Dear Membership,

What a remarkable year 2014 has been for Fairbanks Native Association! We have had many accomplishments under the direction of our dedicated board.

Overall it has been a very good fiscal year for FNA, with just over 1 million in operating gains. In February, our board approved our annual audit which shows FNA is financially strong.

This year we will be celebrating our 52nd annual potlatch on March 21st. Our founding members began this tradition as a way to annually celebrate the foundation of FNA. This is a tradition that I am proud to be a part of and to carry on. Our potlatch is a time to celebrate and to serve our membership with traditional foods that is prepared by FNA staff. I would like to invite everyone to join the FNA potlatch celebration.

I am also proud to report that last summer we completed a kitchen renovation at our Hannah Solomon Building that serves our respected elders of the community. The kitchen and dining area was expanded and new appliances were installed. This renovation project was a big success for FNA because it provides a comfortable and relaxing environment for our elders.

In the past year FNA has successfully completed the restructure of our Head Start program. Previously we had been operating Early Head Start and Head Start as two different programs. Under the restructure, both programs were combined into one “Head Start 0-5” program. The purpose of the restructure was to better serve our Head Start families and to provide more efficiency and a smoother transition to school readiness.

I have been strongly advocating on behalf of FNA for Medicaid expansion. The Medicaid expansion would allow FNA to bill for many consumers of behavioral health services that previously would not have had had eligible. This is an important issue to FNA, as we serve all consumers seeking treatment services, regardless of health care coverage at their time of need.

I am also proud to report that our board of directors have completed and approved a new vision statement, a new mission statement and a new five-year strategic plan. The improved vision and mission statement gives FNA a simplified but inspiring new objective. The new strategic plan will guide FNA in a new direction of improved service delivery, growth and improved community partnerships. Our goal of continued partnerships and enhancing working relationship with other agencies for advocacy and service is extremely important to me. It is essential for FNA to maintain strong relationships, not only with Native organizations, but with all agencies that promote the spirituality, cultural identity, self-reliance, and physical and mental health of all our consumers.

In closing, this year marks my six year anniversary at FNA and I will continue to be dedicated to the mission of our organization. I believe that all of our programs are vital and improve the health and well being of all the consumers we serve.

This program continues to be successful with sharing and presenting at the Tanana Chiefs Annual Convention. The State of Alaska Department of Health and Services provided a $4500 donation to support the bi-weekly and Saturday events.

The FNA Johnson O’Malley program (JOM) had been in existence for more than 30 years. JOM places tutors in classrooms in the Fairbanks North Star Borough School District (FNSBSD) to assist Alaska Native students. The program is expected, throughout the life of this grant, to serve approximately 500 of the 2,000 Alaskan Native students in the Fairbanks North Star Borough. The primary goal of the JOM Program Tutor Expansion Project is to improve the standardized test scores for identified Native students.

JOM staffs have been hosting monthly Student Success Strategy Meetings regarding Lathrop High School students that are in struggling with attendance and/or grades. The Lathrop principal, parents and students, and JOM staff gather and discuss ways to improve the teacher/student relationship, making our students comfortable in the school environment, and goals for including more multicultural activities.

Sponsorships for our “Alaska Native Youth Basketball Tournament” continue to arrive. Our tournament is being held on March 16-18, 2015 at Tanana Middle School. This event is held annually for students in grades three through twelve. FNA staff and board members are welcome to participate, coaches, concessionaires, monitors and score/timekeepers are needed.

The JOM Native Culture components elementary group has really taken off. Our young singers and dancers are really enjoying the performances and practice sessions. Irene Nicholia Todd has had to cancel several practice sessions due to extreme cold weather. Both elementary and high school groups will perform during the Festival of Native Arts and UAF.

Family Advocate, Kathy Halverson, continues to network with other social agencies and families in need of numerous services. Kathy also has been asked to accompany parents/guardians to meetings with school district staff.

The JOM Expansion grant is in year three. Staff and the Planning and Development Department are patiently waiting for the RFP; we plan on submitting a continuation proposal and are hopeful that it will be funded. Other potential funding has been referred to in President Obama’s “2014 Native Youth Report.”

JOM Cultural Specialist, Irene Nicholia-Todd has met with the YKSD Native Language instructor and has been looking into this goal of introducing a basic course for learning our Koyukon Native language for the kids who are interested.

STATE PREVENTION FRAMEWORK-
STATE INCENTIVE GRANT (SPF SIG)

The Strategic Prevention Framework is a focused approach to substance abuse prevention. The SPF SIG is a SAMHSA/CSAP initiative that involves bringing individuals and programs together in a five-step process to prevent youth (ages 12-20) from alcohol use and adult (ages 21-44) from heavy and binge drinking within the Fairbanks North Star Borough. This initiative helps fund the Fairbanks Prevention Coalition.

SPF SIG is implementing an environmental strategy by using PhotoVoice and Digital Storytelling as a unique way to disseminate the voices and opinions of the community on underage drinking and heavy/binge drinking. The goals of these projects are to enhance or create awareness of the perceptions of risk and social availability of alcohol for youth and the perceptions of risk of alcohol for adults. The program focuses on resilience, strengths and overcoming the challenges of alcohol abuse.
SAYA

SAYA is FNA’s newest program. SAYA means “Save our Youth and Young Adults for Transitions.” This awesome new project is a joint effort between Fairbanks Native Association and Tanana Chiefs Conference. The project will provide wrap around service and support for Alaska Native/American Indian (AN/AI) to enter adulthood successfully:

- 16-25 year olds who have already been identified as experiencing a serious mental health condition
- Will serve Fairbanks, North Pole and surrounding areas

The overarching goal is to develop successful transitions to adulthood through a culturally specific, youth guided wrap-around continuum of outreach, engagement, awareness, prevention, intervention and treatment strategies.

The program will strive to achieve the DFC goals by implementing these strategies:

- Advocate for consistent consequences for adults who provide alcohol to youth

- Consumers are provided with cultural activities to include community potlatches, talking circles, and community events

RALPH PERDUE CENTER - OUTPATIENT

The RPC Outpatient programs offers both level 1 outpatient and level 2.1 intensive outpatient services to male and female adults entering recovery from drug and alcohol addiction.

Many consumers transition to the Outpatient program after completion of one of FNA's residential treatment programs in order to implement relapse prevention and other skills learned during treatment.

Consumers may also enter the Outpatient program through referrals depending upon recommendations from a behavioral health assessment.

RPC Outpatient program has 30 treatment slots available and provides both group and individual counseling to meet the individualized needs of the consumer.

FNA accepts referrals from FASAP, Department of Corrections, and Office of Children’s Services along with many other agencies.
The program serves to strengthen the healing process for participating women recovering from addiction and co-occurring disorders. The program utilizes a family approach which combines a multi-disciplinary team of staff as well as consultants to promote a positive and nurturing environment while recovering from substance dependence. Family reunification, community support and aftercare are incorporated as well to ensure a smooth transition back to their home after they complete the program. WCCIH is able to house up to twelve adult females in the 3-6 month program and up to three children per consumer aged 0-7. Consumers attend class, counseling groups, individual therapy and community support services such as A.A. and N.A. in order to explore their strengths so they may learn to build healthy relationships with peers, families, and community members.

Program highlights
In 2014, WCCIH successfully graduated 13 women from their program and re-united 10 graduates with their children. Two beautiful infants were born to residents while in treatment and 31 children lived with their mothers while in treatment in the past year.

WCCIH has integrated Trauma Informed Treatment that has created a more balanced treatment experience.

Beyond Trauma, Circle of Security as well as established parenting curriculums that are all evidence based practices have been fully integrated into the treatment schedule.

WCCIH utilizes both full time employees as well as contracted mental health clinicians when necessary in order to meet the needs for mental health services for our consumers on-site.

The staff works closely with a child specialist who provides infant and child behavioral health services based on child and parent interactions.

THE staff successfully provided consumers the required 20 or more hours of treatment per week with regard to both group and individual services.

Cultural activities continue to be a vital part of WCCIH that promotes recovery and community sober support by re-connecting families with their cultural values, interests, and support for the healing process.

A challenge that the mothers are faced with when completing the program is the lack of stable housing, transitional housing is desperately needed for the mothers upon graduation.
Fairbanks Alcohol Safety Action Program has been a service of Fairbanks Native Association since 1978. FASAP monitors cases of individuals that are convicted of alcohol and drug misdemeanors in the State of Alaska, Fourth Judicial Circuit. FASAP works in partnership with the Alaska Court System and Department of Motor Vehicles to monitoring all cases that are referred to our office. FASAP provides the court personnel with regular updates, information, and documentation on each referred individual. Our program refers those that are in our program, to obtain alcohol education and/or treatment to programs that are certified through the State of Alaska Department of Health and Social Services. The overall goal of the program is reduction in alcohol or drug related crimes in Fairbanks and surrounding areas.

Our office monitors misdemeanor cases such as: driving under the influence, assault, disorderly conduct, and minor consuming alcohol. Upon completion of our program our office notifies the District Attorney Office, Alaska Court System, and DMV stating a consumer has satisfactorily completed the program and court requirements.

The challenge that our program is currently facing is the completion dates that the courts are requiring on judgment orders of referred consumers. The dates are ranging out over a year which sets the driving under the influence cases back; they need proof of FASAP completion for DMV reinstatements.

FASAP staff attended the annual ASAP training and workshop by Ron Taylor, DOC commissioner for the State of Alaska, in regards to recidivism and collaboration amongst programs.

These dollars will support collaboration under the title of “Save our Youth and Young Adults for Transitions” (SAYA).

The Planning and Development Department participated in various community activities:
